

Christmas Volunteering

Lots of charities are desperate for volunteers in the build up to Christmas, so why not get together with your workmates for a few hours volunteering in your community?

We can match you up to a volunteering opportunity that suits you and your team – however big or small

It's great fun, a classic team-building exercise, and you'll know you've made a difference – made a child's eyes light up as they unwrap a gift, or brought some festive cheer to a lonely older person.

★ How does it work?

It's a complete package and we do all the work: source the opportunity, undertake a risk assessment, write up a plan so you can brief your team - and we'll be there on the day to support you. We'll help you get the very best out of your Christmas volunteering and make sure it all runs smoothly.

Why you should do it

You'll get to spend time with your colleagues out of the office, doing something incredible for your community. Your company will be seen as one which cares about its staff and about those less fortunate than yourselves this Christmas.

But don't just take our word for it. Peter Muffett, CEO of film production company DTV says: "We loved Christmas volunteering with TimeBank. It's easy to forget about other people's lives when you work in an office all day, but it's been a fantastic experience spending time with people who are lonely and isolated and seeing how much they appreciate your help. The perfect way to celebrate Christmas - especially with a hot toddy in the pub afterwards!"

★ How much does it cost?

Our rates for organising a great Christmas volunteering experience start at just £500 + VAT for a group of 10 or less.
